Summary

Mr. Motherway oversees the corporate-wide risk management program including safety and loss prevention, litigation management, disaster preparedness as well as the administration of the corporate property and casualty programs for Tishman. He coordinates the marketing and placement of coverages on behalf of clients of the company during construction projects. Insurance programs include wrap-ups with project premiums in excess of $20 million. He reviews all contracts to make sure that the company and client are properly protected. He is responsible for negotiating all claims settlements on behalf of Tishman and its clients.

Mr. Motherway started Tishman's captive insurance company, TRIMCO, in 2001 and manages the day-to-day operation of TRIMCO. TRIMCO currently insures the risks of Tishman's construction, development, hotel and real estate operations.

Mr. Motherway was the Risk Manager for the City of New York from 1992 to 1994. Mr. Motherway established citywide contract guidelines to maintain maximum protection for the personnel, property, and assets of the city against risk of loss; developed alternative means of financing and courses of action to the Deputy Mayor for Operations, Office of Management and Budget, Comptroller, Corporation Counsel and all City Agencies. He also identified property and casualty loss exposures and implemented the most effective combination of risk transfer, risk financing, and loss prevention techniques; and oversaw the city's workers' compensation and tort claims administration operation. In addition, he worked with the Comptroller's Office and the Law Department to develop strategies for the early settlement of claims, alternate dispute resolution and litigation management techniques. He also provided guidance to all levels of city management on risk and insurance matters, while overseeing the citywide Office of Safety and Health, the city's Loss Control Unit and the Central Insurance Program; and was Chairman of the New York City Local Emergency Planning Committee.

Prior to the City of New York, Mr. Motherway was a litigation associate with Akerman Senterfitt & Eidson, P.A., Miami, Florida, from 1991 to 1992.

Mr. Motherway has been with Tishman since 1994.
