Managing Risk in the Current World Economic/Political Environment

The global economic downturn and political changes have had a major impact on the operations of organizations. Among these impacts are reduction in staffing, increased budgetary constraints and potential for increased regulation worldwide. This conference will discuss the effect of the changes on current safety, health and environmental programs and how these programs may face further changes in the future.

ERGONOMICS FOR THE SAFETY PROFESSIONAL

Cynthia Roth
CEO
Ergonomic Technologies Corporation

Moderator: David Hanson

A major cause of workplace injuries are poor placement for staging sites, poorly designed workstations, processes, equipment and tools and improper manual material handling. Ergonomics can assist any safety professional in the development of "best practices" interventions by educating management, supervisors, and employees. Organizations can reduce and manage occupational risk factors by applying a totally integrated approach of safety and ergonomics to workplace risk management.
